

INVITATION

Center for Strategic and International Studies ■ Washington, D.C.

The CSIS Energy and National Security Program

Invites You to a Discussion with

Steve LeVine,
Author, The Oil and the Glory

10:00 am – 11:30 am
Thursday, October 25, 2007
CSIS 4th Floor Conference Room
1800 K Street, NW, Washington DC

The CSIS Energy and National Security program will host author Steve LeVine for a discussion on his new book, The Oil and the Glory. LeVine was based in Central Asia and the Caucasus for 11 years — starting two weeks after the Soviet collapse through 2003. He ran The Wall Street Journal bureau for the eight-nation region, and before that covered it for The New York Times. He worked on The Wall Street Journal's oil staff through January 2007.

The Oil and the Glory tells the heretofore little-heralded story of the long, epic struggle for fortune, glory and power on the Caspian Sea. LeVine will discuss the political actions and the struggles encountered during the development of oil pipelines in the region.

To RSVP for this event, please email energy@csis.org.

The Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) is a nonprofit, bipartisan public policy organization established in 1962 to advance global security and prosperity in an era of economic and political transformation by providing strategic insights and practical policy solutions to decision makers.